

REQUEST FOR SPONSORSHIP

In order to achieve the ideal of a truly global conservation project, Inverdoorn will embark on a massive project to create a 5000-hectare fenced predator area. This zone will be home to additional wildlife (like rhino, buffalo and giraffe) and suitable prey such as springbok, blesbuck, ostrich, etc.

This area will be suitable to release rehabilitated cheetah within where they will be able to live wild and free. Inverdoorn is requesting sponsorship in various forms - by monetary donations and/or product supply - to make this release reserve a reality. This fenced area will serve a purpose for education on a traditional safari experience and also compliment the conservation program.

WHY SPONSOR?

Inverdoorn's Cheetah Conservation Corporate Sponsorship Programme to evolve and grow the current conservation project, is a new initiative and we are seeking partners to become corporate sponsors of the 5000-hectare Cheetah Release Zone. You are invited to be part of an unique, global conservation project - hosted in the Western Cape.

Your financial support or product supply sponsorship will cover initial capital and infrastructure costs, continuing operational costs such as resourcing, project management, animal welfare, transportation and other costs involved.

The organisation, together with Inverdoorn Private Game Reserve will provide the platform to communicate your organisations sustainability and environmental commitments and bring your brand values to life within a tangible project.

An association with this project will create various opportunities for your business.

With future successful cheetah rehabilitation and releases, your brand will benefit from the exponential media coverage that the Inverdoorn marketing team will achieve. These exponential brand value reach have been proven by the marketing and communication services the same team offer to the Aquila Private Game Reserve. It is anticipated that this project will reach extensive communities and media - including print, broadcast, online and digital coverage.

With this partnership, your company will:

- Associate yourself with our existing, unparalleled conservation awards and achievements
- Build positive connections, attitudes and values by linking your business with ethical conservation outcomes
- Reinforce the image of your brand making a difference by supporting a project with possible global recognition, to secure the existence of the cheetah
- It can also provide your marketing department with a new story to tell by playing a direct role in the rehabilitation and release of the cheetah
- Use the facilities of Inverdoorn to showcase and demonstrate your products and services to industry and clients
- Expose your product to many local, corporate and international visitors
